Abstract

Gandhiji was a great revolutionary person. He had deeply thought over all the aspects relating to life. Gandhiji also closely aligned morality with education. He believed that knowledge without is evil, it can erode the society like a malicious worm. Gandhiji concept of education is based on all round development of human personality that includes physical development, intellectual development and spiritual development. Mahatma Gandhi was a great philosopher, education and sociologist who led India to independence and inspired movements for non-violence, civil rights and freedom across the world. His philosophy was based on truth, non-violence and ethics. Gandhiji was focus of education on job-orientation, character formation, social development and basic education.

Introduction:

Gandhi, the father of our nation and of course a non-violent freedom fighter, gave the scheme on Indian education in 'Hind Swaraj' for modern India, which can also be very well called first manifesto on national education system. Gandhian concept and program me on education is job-centered, value based, it may be known as the first model of vocationalisation of education in India.

Non-violence was the fundamental mode of Gandhi's life and thought. Naturally his new educational concept was based on principal non-violence. Gandhi's thoughts on education in 'Hind Swaraj' are
